Black Sabbitch

Tribute to Black Sabbath

About

Black Sabbitch is a Los Angeles Black Sabbath tribute that has built its reputation over more than a decade, selling out shows and earning strong support from dedicated Sabbath fans, critics, musicians, and a growing fan base.

The band has moved well beyond the usual tribute circuit, becoming a regular festival pick and appearing alongside some of the world's biggest acts. Sharon and Ozzy Osbourne hand-picked Black Sabbitch to open the inaugural Ozzfiesta. Dave Grohl selected them to play Cal Jam with Foo Fighters and Iggy Pop, and afterward Foo Fighters shared photos of the band with the comment, we were spellbound.

Recent highlights include a headlining set at Psycho Las Vegas with The Flaming Lips, Danzig, Ty Segal, and more. Nick Zinner of Yeah Yeah Yeahs chose Black Sabbitch to headline his curated festival Bedrocktoberfest, and Shepard Fairey brought them in to open his Black Sabbath retrospective, Never Say Die.

Black Sabbitch has also shown flexibility in special-event settings. Peaches joined the band as lead vocalist for a two-night run in Los Angeles.

For buyers, the picture is clear: this is a long-running Black Sabbath tribute with proven festival history, recognized tastemakers in its corner, and credits that place it comfortably on rock bills where audience familiarity and band credibility matter.
