About

Jack of Hearts is a Bob Dylan tribute band based in Los Angeles, California, covering the breadth of Dylan's catalog across more than five decades of work.

Their set is built to reflect Dylan's changing sound, from the early 60s folk period through the electric shift that led to Blonde on Blonde, the Woodstock retreat, and into the 70s with Blood on the Tracks, the Rolling Thunder Revue, and beyond.

Bob Dylan's songwriting has had a lasting impact on American music, and his catalog remains widely recognized. A Nobel Laureate, he has influenced virtually every notable musician in modern times.

Jack of Hearts has performed across the Southwest, presenting a live show centered on the best-known strengths of American folk rock and an authentic Dylan sound.

Short bio

The Jack of Hearts Band authentically replicates Bob Dylan's sound, from the early 1960s folk scene and electric conversion through Blonde on Blonde, the Woodstock retreat, the 1970s, Blood on the Tracks, Rolling Thunder Revue, and beyond. They have performed across the Southwest with a live American folk-rock experience.

Full press bio

The Jack of Hearts Band authentically replicates Bob Dylan's sound across his major musical eras: the early 1960s folk scene, the radical electric conversion culminating in Blonde on Blonde, the Woodstock retreat, the 1970s, Blood on the Tracks, the Rolling Thunder Revue, and beyond. With Dylan's timeless poetry and American folk-rock at the center, the band brings a live experience to audiences across the Southwest. Dylan's body of work has remained influential for over five decades and earned him the Nobel Prize in Literature.
